CHARLES de VILMORIN | NEW LIBRARY AUDIOBOOKS | OUR BLOG | CORO ON THE ROAD

In this months Coro Chronicles episode, I had the true honor of interviewing Charles de Vilmorin. His journey from building his own company to joining the LifeLoop family embodies both mission and action. His story has inspired me and so many others, and I invite you to tune in, learn more, and perhaps discover something about Charles you didn't know before! #OLDPEOPLEARECOOL

NEW ADDITION TO THE ENRICHFIRST LIBRARY: 🎧 AUDIOBOOKS 📖

Across communities, caregivers, and life enrichment teams, the message was clear: "We need an audiobook solutio, something meaningful, easy to use, and truly engaging." So we built one.

Our new AUDIOBOOK LIBRARY pairs every title with companion discussion questions. The launch collection features beloved works your residents already know and love, and throughout 2026 we're expanding the library with timeless classics that will spark memories, invite discussion, and bring people together.

That's what happens when a team listens with purpose. At Coro Health, listening isn't just what we do...it's the heart of how we serve.

MORE ABOUT AUDIOBOOKS

Why Audiobooks Work for Older Adults

They are a natural in daily routines. They can become a consistent program residents look forward to, whether it is a quiet morning listen, a small group session, or during family visits.

How Engagement Connects to Health Outcomes

Purposeful engagement helps brings social interaction, familiarity, and a renewed sense of purpose back into daily life. When residents have opportunities to participate, share, and connect they are far more likely to feel grounded, seen, and supported.

YOUR CERTIFICATE OF COMPLIANCE

From senior living to home health to acute care, every community using Coro Health music services receives a Certificate of Compliance and it isn't just paper on a wall.

When you display your certificate, you're telling the world you don't just meet a standard. You set one.
